June 4, 2007

1. All of the online help screens should be current, or at the very least, close to being current.
2. On the “Extended Search Specifications” (People Search) screen, the dates now display properly.
3. Employer record screen displays have been changed to be in the same format as a merchant record, minus the hot check information.
4. The tab sequence on the citation screen has been modified and your flow of data entry should now go smoother if you use the tab key. There have also been some other cosmetic changes made to the citation screen.
5. The multi task control buttons, were omitted from the civil style cause display screens. This situation has been corrected.
6. Civil style causes, when added to the calendar for scheduling, were not automatically adding all of the parties involved, to the event. This situation has been corrected.
7. There were some cosmetic modifications made to the merchant display screen.
8. In the “sentencing process area” there is a screen to enter “Extended Statistics”. This screen needed some major assistance and I believe you will now find it much easier to use. Also, some of the dates associated with the sentence were not displaying properly. This situation has also been resolved.
9. On the court information screen, an automatic primary contact person indicator has been modified to properly represent the type of court. This modification was to distinguish between judges and clerks.
10. When using the calendar to schedule events, one of the parties involved is the designation of a judge to hear the case. Since most of our courts are small courts and only have one judge, we have been asked if we could not assign the judge automatically when the cause is initially entered into the system. Keeping in mind that over the years judges will change, and when they do change we can not delete the old judge’s record, I have implemented the following: I have added a field to the inquiry/update screen for the judges which will allow you to designate the four letter abbreviation of the court to which this judge is to be the default judge. For example “JPCT”, “DCRT”, etc. Once you have done this the program will automatically assign this judge to all causes entered. You should only have one judge designated for each court. If you designate more than one judge for a court, the program will use the first judge it finds with that indication.

11. We have removed the plea option from the "Enter Amount to be Paid" screen for civil style and inquest causes.
12. We have modified all of the report control screens to a new format which we believe will make the processing of reports much easier to do.
